Experience:

Campaign Statement:
 I would be honored to be elected once again to serve on the HEC Panel for the coming school year. The experience to work with such qualified students and faculty has been a great learning opportunity for me. Having been on the Panel for these past two years, I have learned a lot about the honors system here at Wake Forest and my respect for the institution as only grown being a part of this group. While not always the easiest of tasks, I believe that it is important to have students on the Panel who truly want to listen and deliberate based on the truth and with the hope that the student is treated with his best interests in mind. It is also important to have experienced students on the Council who understand the process in order for it to run more smoothly. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to represent the class of '06 in the past and I would really appreciate your vote for our last year here.

 I am running for a third term to the Honor & Ethics Council because my experience on the HEC sets me apart from all the other candidates who do not have that experience. Campaign Statement:
 As a past member of the HEC, I have learned that the organization strives to preserve honor and trust among students on campus, which is essential to maintaining the unity of the Wake Forest community. Campaign Statement:
 I am running for Honors and Ethics Council because as corny as it sounds, I really do enjoy helping others. Wake Forest places an immense amount of trust upon their students to uphold the honor system. The Honors and Ethics Council is an opportunity for a student like me to not only maintain the honor system, but directly partake in it. I am a good candidate because I try to trust and follow what I believe is morally just while staying rational at the same time.

 Considering Wake Forest's already stellar honor system, I will strive to maintain and enforce the community's ethical prestige. Wake Forest needs strong individuals who willingly dedicate time to police our student's academic actions. I will ensure that our Honor and Ethics Council will fairly and appropriately sentence dishonorable students. I will aid the judicial system with important decisions and provide insightful opinions regarding sentencing due to my past experience with the Honor and Ethics Council.

Campaign Statement:
 I would like to serve on this council because I think it is hard for some adults to remember their college years when judging a student, and it is important to have someone who can judge students' actions while relating to them. I am able to understand where others are coming from and can often get others to see the situation from my point of view. This attribute is important when discussing repercussions with professors.

Campaign Statement:
 As a candidate for the Honor and Ethics Council, I aim to bring a solid foundation of moral conduct to the Wake Forest Community. I learned of this opportunity and chose to run for office this year because I believe firmly in preventing dishonest conduct in all academic settings. A vote for me will be well placed because I can benefit the council with a strong academic record and a critical examination in every case.
